Commentaires

I like this course, it's really interesting and it's close to the reality. This is not the case for all politic economic course. However I think they are a bit to much statistics concepts and sometimes they are too difficult for our level in statistics. I really like the individual presentation, we learn a lot of things from these presentations.

Great professor, great content! Course just a little bit difficult to follow , this is of no faults of the professor , the subject just a little more challenging for students without a certain background .

It's hard to understand the real structure of the course. Maybe a few more examples will help the understanding of the course. And it will be nice to have a bit more information about the exam and the types of questions we my have.

It's difficult to understand, but the Professor tries a lot to make it simpler

In general, the course is well organized and really interesting, and professor is really good in explaining, and he always did he's best in order to explain probem.
